THE late Bishop Whitehouse left an estate valued at $400,000, made up as follows: Real estate in West Virginia, $350,000; personal property, $10,000; library, $10,000; real estate in Cook county, $30,000. This property is to be equally divided between the seven children—four sons and three daughters.

THE Shreveport Times, a staunch advocate of old-line Democracy and a white man's government, makes the following generous proposition in its issue of the 26th ult.: "If the editor of the Inter-Ocean wants a little recreation this winter, and if fond of the noble sport of hunting carpet-baggers, let him run down here for a week or two, and we will give him the finest sport he has ever had. It is true that the game has been thinned out, but there are still a few tax-collectors, members of the legislature, schoolmasters and judges left, and the scarcity of the game is compensated for by the avidity with which our dogs and wild-cats pursue it." That is the sort of encouragement offered by southern fire-eaters to northern emigration.

GRATZ BROWN, of Missouri, has gone squarely over to the Democracy. He takes no more stock in independent movements, and doesn't butter his war-memorials any more. His experience in 1872 as the tail of the Greeley ticket has cured him, and he proposes, hereafter, to be a thoroughbred Democrat.

THE recent horrible tragedy, in Cincinnati, in which a desperate mother deliberately murdered her little daughter, and then attempted her own destruction, furnishes still another instance of the horrible results almost sure to follow in the wake of marital infidelity. The exact cause of the quarrel which led to the tragedy is not yet apparent, but while the husband makes a charge of unfaithfulness against his wife, not yet sustained, there is abundant evidence that he has been pursuing a career of open dissoluteness only too common among a certain class of married men. There is every reason to believe that his base and heartless conduct in this regard is what drove his wife to frenzy, and finally impelled her to the commission of a shocking crime. "The wages of sin is death," is a lesson which history is constantly teaching, but which men will never learn.—Cincinnati Journal.

FATHER HYACINTHE and Victor Hugo have joined Mr. Disraeli and the Pope in prophesying the approach of a tremendous war, which shall rage all over Europe and elsewhere. Mr. Disraeli predicted that the war would be a religious one, and that it would convulse the globe. The Pope described the impending struggle as one between the armies of the Archangel Michael and the hosts of Satan. According to the prognostication of Father Hyacinthe the coming war will be three-fold, and will include a fearful conflict between popular rights and the power of capital, in which the combatants will tear each other to pieces. According to the vaticination of Victor Hugo, the great and inevitable encounter is to be "between two principles, Republic and Empire." He says that "we have before us—in Europe—a series of catastrophes which engender each other, and which must be exhausted," that "we can get a glimpse of peace only across a shock of arms," that "between the present and the future there is this fatal interposition," that the "Kings must expiate their crimes," and that "the separation of the people will result in federation and fraternity." He thus closes his prophecy of the "Universal Fatherland." "The solution is this: The United States of Europe. The end will be for the people—that is to say, for liberty; and for God—that is to say, for peace." There must surely be something in the atmosphere of Europe that leads so many prophets to prophesy the approach of war—war of religion, republicanism and the rights of human nature.—Cincinnati Commercial.

HIS NAME IS BARNES.

The Inter-Ocean of Sunday morning follows from the New Orleans Picayune: Such shameless slanders as are telegraphed from this city to the Inter-Ocean naturally attract attention to the reckless inaccuracy and ruffian falsifier who concocts them. His name is Barnes, and if ever a man carried his ticket of leave back to his home, it is this fellow Barnes.

In reference to the person bringing yesterday, we neglected to say his full name was W. B. Barnes, assistant editor of a sheet known as the Southwestern Advocate, formerly published here (it may be still, for all we know), with the Rev. Hartzell as chief editor. He has been living at 430 Canal street.

We have heard some of the opinions of professional religionists here since the war, but this Barnes seems to exceed them all in infamy.—New Orleans Picayune.

Mr. Barnes is a son of Rev. R. M. Barnes of Bloomington, and a graduate of the Wesleyan University located there. He is a young man of ability, and was for a while employed as local editor of this paper. He is now employed as assistant editor of the Advocate, the Methodist organ in the South-west.

The Inter-Ocean says that Mr. B.'s instructions from that paper are simply to tell the truth, and that it has every reason to believe he has done so. There is another representative of the Inter-Ocean in New Orleans, however, and a large share of that paper's reports during the Penn insurrection came from the latter. It appears, however, that the Picayune's incitements to assassination or punishment have already produced sufficient effect to make it necessary for Mr. Barnes to leave Mr. Hartzell's residence, where he had been staying, and that the house has to be guarded by the police, such is the hostility against Mr. Hartzell himself.

The Bloomington Pentagraph, referring to this matter says: "So far as we could judge, the dispatches to the Inter-Ocean during the late troubles have been in the main as truthful and accurate as could in reason be expected, in a time of such excitement and confusion; certainly quite as much so as the rebel sympathizing reports sent to the Associated Press and to northern papers of the so-called 'independent' stripe. The truth, however, is just what hurts the class whom the Picayune represents; and that paper's savage language is only a fair expression of the feelings of that class toward northern men who venture to tell the truth about the condition of things down there, and to express the opinions of a free and loyal man in regard to it."

THE TWIN RELICS ONCE MORE.

From the New York Herald.

The Salt Lake City Herald thinks the time has come for a national convention of wise men; "if we have any such in the country," who can discuss and determine this question of peace and reconstruction. As the editor justly remarks: "If the principles of republicanism laid down by the framers of the Constitution have been so transgressed in a single century that they can hardly be recognized, much less carried out, or if the country has lessened the federal system, it is time that the people in their sovereign capacity, should take into consideration the revision and amendment of the Constitution, in order that the harmonious development of the country should not be hindered by sectional difficulties or longer lack of the proper administrative machinery." This is a very true! Nor are the questions that should concern a convention solely those belonging to the south. In Utah we have a most interesting and delicate problem, which Congress has endeavored to solve without success.

FARMERS' LIFE IN MISSOURI.—What can be pleasanter, says an exchange, than the life of a Missouri farmer? At daylight he gets up and examines the holes around his corn hills for cut worms, then he snatches coffee with milk and a hot until breakfast. The forenoon is devoted to watering the potato bugs with a solution of Paris green, and after dinner all hands turn out to pour boiling water on the chintz bugs in the corn and wheat fields. In the evening a favorite occupation is smudging peach trees to destroy the curculio; and after a brief season of family devotion at the shrine of the family flying cologne, all the folks retire and sleep soundly till aurore reddens the east and the grasshoppers tinkle against the pans and summon them to the labors of another day.

LETTER FROM A GRANGER.

FRIENDS: CHICAGO, Oct. 3, 1874.

EDITORS REPUBLICAN:—Shawpees was up to see me last Sunday. He wants me to come down to Niantic and make a speech before the election, as he has some doubts of carrying the township. Jesse Lockhart and old Dr. Paris are against him, and they wield a powerful influence with the old Democracy of Niantic. He said if he was elected, he would try to get a law passed compelling the railroads to carry our grain to market for five cents a bushel. If he could get it through, he thought corn would be one dollar per bushel the year round.

I put him on a plan to get Jesse Lockhart's influence, by promising to get the legislature to make an appropriation of $20,000 to purchase the "Mammoth's" bones from Jesse.

He also said, the way things looked, he was sorry he had not taken some mechanics and hirelings into our party. I told him we did not want them; that as soon as Mr. Pickrell was elected to Congress he would get the constitution so amended that no man can vote or hold office unless he owns 80 acres of land and a span of large mules.

I have said that I would not vote for Shawpees, but I guess I will have to, for he says if he is elected I may come down to Springfield and stay a week, and it shall not cost me a cent.

Please inform me what the Decatur post office pays per year, and how many clerks it takes to run it; and what would be the probable cost of moving it to Friends Creek?

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The Times publishes the following dated New Orleans, 4th instant: Governor Kellogg has received information saying that upon the arrival of the United States troops at Coushatta, some fifteen White Leaguers, who were engaged in the recent murders of Republican office holders, left home and fled to Arkansas and Texas.

THE OCTOBER ELECTIONS.

Only one week still remains before the beginning of the October elections, which have been held so long as to indicate of the general result throughout the nation in November. While Pennsylvania, under her new Constitution, has stepped out of the rank of States that hold their elections in October, the number of States heretofore including Ohio, Indiana and Iowa, which hold theirs in November, has been increased by the addition of Arkansas and Nebraska, which hold elections on the 13th, Georgia on the 14th, and West Virginia on the 22d. Of course, the deepest interest is felt in the result in the latter States, not merely on account of their greater aggregate population and representation in Congress, but also on account of the uncertainty of the result—especially in the great States of Ohio and Indiana. Nebraska and Kansas only elect full lists of State officers on the 13th, while Ohio, Indiana and Iowa elect partial ones. All, however, choose members of Congress and Georgia and West Virginia do the same, besides "Dakota," which chooses its Territorial Delegates and other Territorial officers. The number of Congressmen to be chosen next Tuesday is 43, as follows: Ohio, 20; Indiana, 13; Iowa, 9; Nebraska, 1. Of these, 34 are Republicans and 9 Democrats. Ohio has 13 Republicans to 6 Democrats and 1 Liberal; Indiana has 10 Republicans to 3 Democrats; Iowa 9 Republicans, Nebraska 1 Republican. Georgia will also elect 9 Congressmen in place of a delegation of whom 7 are Democrats and 2 Republicans, while West Virginia chooses 3—its present representation being unanimously Democratic.—Springfield Journal.

CITIZENS OF TEXAS PERSECUTED BY KU-KLUXERS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The Brooklyn Argus, speaking of the indictment against Tilton and Moulton, says: "The array of counsel in the Tilton case, will be unusually large. Roscoe Conkling has accepted a retainer and will sum up the case for the prosecution. Wm. M. Evans, B. F. Tracy, John K. Porter, W. A. Bartlett, John Graham and T. S. Sherman will assist Mr. Conkling. The list of Tilton's counsel is said not to be complete. Senator Carpenter, of Wisconsin, Daniel Daugherty, of Philadelphia, and David Dudley Field, are mentioned."

Mr. Moulton has secured Judge Fullerton, although Gen. Butler will take the lead in the case and personally appear. Mr. Beecher will most likely appear also. A motion has been made for a change of venue; this is a matter in the discretion of the court. A motion will be made for a writ of habeas corpus to carry the case before the Supreme Court. This, we believe, is a motion in the right, and an effort will then be made to remove the case to Albany or Westchester. It is thought the trial will take place in a fortnight, and it will probably last for three or four weeks.

CHICAGO, October 5.—To-day Gen. Shaler, of New York, accompanied by the Fire Commissioners and several members of the Citizens' Association, made a complete tour of the city, visiting different engine houses, inspecting the apparatus and taking note of the number of men, &c., and observations of portions of the city supposed to be particularly liable to danger from fire. So far as could be learned from conversation with Gen. Shaler, he considers the business part of the city well built, and as little liable to danger from fire as any part of the city; but the southwest part, in which is situated what is commonly known as the lumber district, he appears to think presents very great facilities for starting destructive fires. He thinks there are too few fire engines in the city, and the engines not sufficiently manned. The fire patrol, under control of a local Board of Underwriters, was the subject of the highest commendation by Gen. Shaler. To-morrow there will be a practical test of the water-works, and in the evening the General leaves for New York.

A SINGULAR case, which occurred many years ago in one of the rural towns of Vermont, is thus described by the Rutland (Vt.) Herald: "Capt. A. shot and killed a dog belonging to his neighbor, Smith. This act was charged upon one G., and a suit was brought against him to recover damage. The case was tried by a jury before a Justice of the Peace, and Capt. A. sat as a juror. Circumstantial evidence was presented to prove that G. shot the dog, and the jury agreed to return a verdict of 'guilty.' Several years after the trial Capt. A. acknowledged that he killed the dog, and defended his course in rendering a verdict of 'guilty' against G. on the ground that his juror's oath requiring him to decide the case according to law and evidence, and that he was fairly proved, he said, that G. killed the dog."

ALASKA AGRICULTURE.—A visitor to this far-off region writes: There is a general impression that nothing will grow in Alaska, and that it is a region of hostile winter and savage icebergs, all of which is extravagant nonsense. On open land and along the streams, succulent grasses grow luxuriantly, and sometimes to a height of three feet and a half. Red-top and wild thyme abound on the islands, and in the mainland something very like Kentucky blue-grass grows extensively. Considerable hay has been made this year, the haying season being nearly the same as in Oregon. Heretofore the government has been paying $70 a ton for imported hay, in gold, but this year the natives are cutting and storing native hay for about $30 a ton in currency. Barley was raised last year, and it yields as well as elsewhere. Potatoes, turnips, onions, and the like have all been produced on the islands, and generally turn out as in other places.

It is now asserted that Colorado air does not cure consumptives, but kills them. Ex-Governor Hammond, of Indiana, is the last victim.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—A letter received at the Postoffice Department, dated Sunday, Alabama, September 28, whereby the special agent sent to investigate the number of the colored vote agent, three months ago, states that he has caused warrants of arrest to be issued for nine men. He describes the States as being overrun with desperadoes, who terrify the blacks and raid their farms.

St. Louis, Oct. 5.—A special from Denison, Texas, says that on the 25th of last month twenty-five or thirty masked men, armed with revolvers, visited the county, and demanded money from the people, who were living there. The party stated that they would be back in twenty-four hours. The party visited other houses, making similar threats. The next day the masked men returned, and the people fled to the county under the protection of the United States Marshal and some troops. The object of these marauders was to prevent the payment of taxes from appearing in court as witnesses against certain parties.

Knowledge and timber should be much used till they are seasoned.

PARIS, Oct. 5.—Returns from the election for Consul General are slightly in favor of the Conservatives. Prince Napoleon was defeated at Ajaccio.

PARIS, Oct. 5.—Returns from the election for Consul General are in from about 700 districts. The Monarchists have made little progress. The Republicans have lost in some districts and gained in others, and it is believed have neither gained nor lost greatly. On the whole, the Bonapartes have everywhere profited by their losses. The operation of the new election law has not proved as unfavorable to the Republicans as they feared.

Ex-President Thiers soon leaves for Italy. It is said the object of his journey is to remove the objections of the European powers to establish a Republic in France.
